The Highlands Center's "Spring into Action" is an evening for the whole family to come together to develop an understanding of the amazing transitions that occur in both the plant and animals' local communities during spring. This special evening, Friday, April 7, from 5:00 - 7:00pm at the Highlands Center for Natural History, will feature exciting, interactive activities for all ages.

This is a great opportunity to learn about and sign up for our Summer Nature Camps 2017 . Meet the staff leading this year camps and receive a free t-shirt if you register for camp that night.

Exciting, interactive activities for all ages.

"Spring into Action" takes a close look at the incredible metamorphosis that occurs in both plants and animals as the days get longer and the temperature rises. Each activity will have a focus on different actions in the natural world (e.g. plants budding/blooming, birds migrating, insects emerging, etc). The evening activities will include crafts, a scavenger hunt, stories, bake sale and more. For more information go to www.highlandscenter.org
